DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Although a restriction requirement has already been made in this case and the case has been transferred to an art unit that handles class 426 subject matter, examiner has been asked by the Supervisor of Art Unit 1761 to re-draft the requirement for restriction because of the large number of independent and distinct inventions in the application and because of the extraordinary searching required for an adequate search of all of the inventions that are in the case.

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-25 and 73, drawn to a food or feed ration, classified in class 426 subclass 805 or 806 or 807 .
- II. Claims 26-35, drawn to a corn oil containing food product, classified in class 426, subclass 601.
- III. Claims 36-44 and 74, drawn to a method of using an extracted corn meal for animal feed, classified in class 426, subclass 622.
- IV. Claims 45-53 and 75, drawn to a method of using extracted corn oil in a food, classified in class 426, subclass 478.
- V. Claims 54-58, drawn to a method of using extracted corn oil as feedstock in an oil refining process, classified in class 554, subclass 195.
- IV. Claims 59-72, drawn to a method of forming an extracted blended meal product, classified in class 426, subclass 457.

Art Unit: 1761

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions II and V or IV are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the process for using the product as claimed could be practiced with another materially different product, such as is separately shown in Group V and IV. Also the product can be used in non-edible processes.

Inventions I and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the feed ration would be used as a filtering material.

Inventions I and VI are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the process as claimed could be used to form a filtering material.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 1761

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Claims 6, 7, 16, 25, 28, 34, 35 and 43 are generic to a plurality of disclosed patentably distinct species comprising the array of ingredients that are set forth in these claims. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species, even though this requirement is traversed.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Claims 8, 10, 13, 19 and 44 are generic to a plurality of disclosed patentably distinct species comprising food or feed for human, swine, poultry, cattle, equine pet or aquaculture. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species, even though this requirement is traversed.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Art Unit: 1761

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
